

CLIENT ALERT: LITIGATION WILL FOLLOW THIS CRISIS

March 23, 2020

While the current health crisis is unprecedented, the financial crisis and legal claims and disputes that will follow from it are not. Our litigation attorneys have prosecuted, defended and resolved claims for our clients resulting from past financial crises, including the 2008 Recession, real estate crash, and subprime mortgage crisis; the Dot-Com crash in 2001; the Savings & Loan crisis and Recession in the early 1990's; and the Stock Market Crash in October 1987. Whether it is claims of financial mismanagement, improper investments, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, loan defaults or wrongful termination; insurance and employment claims; or the need to assert claims in bankruptcy proceedings, foreclosure actions, and eviction proceedings, our litigation attorneys have the experience and expertise to successfully prosecute, defend and resolve these claims.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if we can be of assistance to you:

John W. Cannavino

John F. Carberry

Steven I. Frenkel

Michael P. Kaelin

David T. Martin

Christopher L. Ulrich